

Hey the top 200 learning tools for 2017 near me that to help to headline now and that list was compiled by Jane Hart of the Center for learning and performance technologies from the votes of 2174 learning professionals from 52 countries around the world than the 11th annual survey so this is the real one okay

The tool that I use for editing audio for The Guy R Cook report Audacity is on that list and that's how I found this list to begin with I was looking for resources for Audacity and I've added the link into The Guy R Cook report dot Podbean dot com for this episode it's got a link in there for the captions of this episode and that way if you want to read it later you can do that so I thank the patrons for supporting our podcast take a look at the credits there's a link to the past episodes of The Guy R Cook report as well have a great day

It's a wrap