

So Friday wrap-up of the Guy R Cook Report consists of episodes for the week that ended on April 27th. It's already April day near the end of April ok first episode coming up is the top 200 tools for learning list for 2017 that was compiled by Jane Hart and that link is built from the votes of 2174 learning professionals in 52 countries and this is their 11th time doing it take a look at that I think you're gonna like what you see.

using the free speed test to measure how fast your webhost or your web server is as what we talked about next in answered the question is our host faster than the Google host well I have to take a look and find out.

Recently I built a slide show over 23 popular social media links that I use. and the final episode we're talking about today is 5 b2b marketing strategies that your company needs to implement right now today.

Thanks for being a patron to the people that our patrons appreciate your efforts and if you liked this episode this summary check out the other episodes of the Guy R Cook Report there's a link for that and there's also a link to the credits so I'm talking about the credits I've talked about the link to the other episodes that concludes this episode of the Guy R Cook Report.

It's a wrap